Friday, 1st inst., was the last day of the fall term of Madison Seminary, and the students at their own option prepared for a rhetorical, as a closing exercise. Nothing pretentious was intended, but we think that the most of the students acquitted themselves creditably. The disease now so prevalent among horses, has probably reached this place as much as may be expected in the country. The horses kept in Mr. Andrew's stable have all the symptoms of the disease as also have the horses of Mr. Allen's livery stable—excepting two. They were taken with a cough, running at the nose, and all the symptoms so well known to the disease.—Madison

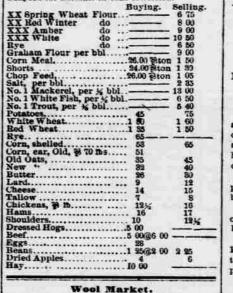

Modernies Journal Office, Nov. 8, 1872.

The change for the better in our local money market, as noticed in our last issue, has again given place to a close and stringer t condition of finances. Discounts are in heavy demand, and the calls for other purposes are increasing, so that it is possible the money market will soon experience as unwelcome a condition as it did a few weeks ago. The irregular state of our finances, as viewed for a week past, and the suddenness with which any slight gain or improvement is lost, gives ample support to the belief that no settled condition may be relied upon, until after the close of the present year, when, it is to be hoped, the market will secure more strength and acquire these conditions necessary to ease and stability.

AGENTS WANTED

*The Hiustrated London News publishes a Christmas number, which is double price, but

The Publishers of the NORTHERN OHIO JOURNAL, desire to double its circulation this fall, and want the services of at least one energetic pushing man or woman in every town in this portion of the Country. We will furnish circulars, samples, blank orders, and all that may be needed to work effectually. A very little effort will enable anyone to send us a large list of subscribers, and, at the same time, pay themselves well for their time and trouble.

And experience has demonstrated, that after a club is started, it is easier to secure additions than it was to get up the original club. Everybody likes the Paper, and when it has once been introduced into a neighborhood, it is always easy to extend the circulation.
